Curious Facts About the Mother of Washington.

None of Her Family Ever Laid by Her.

DIDN'T SEEM TO CARE.

Washington Himself Didn't Place a Tombstone for Her.

Washington, May 14.—[Special.]— When Coxey's army had been camped here one week, it had considerably increased in numbers, but comprised less than half of the original members who had tramped across the mountains in its ranks. So your correspondent is informed by one who was with it through Pennsylvania and Maryland, and so he verily believes from observation here. In fact, all those who came for sport and all who really want work got out of it rapidly, and tramps and bummers flocked in in such numbers that Coxey and Browne actually had to set guards to keep them out. But the really surprising feature of the case is that in a city like this 400 or $00 men could live tolerably well for over a week on what they collected from sight-

Public Improvements Contemplated.

The Washington board of trade and the promoters of building generally are telling us that the Coxeyites must get away pretty soon, or they will have a chance to work. All sorts of fine schemes are projected to be undertaken as soon as congress gives the authority. There is, we are told, to be an entire new system of railroads for city and District on what may be called the underground trolley system. Great things are promised as a result of utilizing the water power of the Potonine falls, and city and District are to be supplied abundantly with electricity for lighting and motive power. If congress will only act—that is, if the two houses can agree upon the site -a great boom in a small way is to result from the beginning of work upon the new government printing office. There is also to be a vast system of improvement for the Potomac river and an electric railway to Baltimore, and these are but a few of many fine schemes which are to boom things as soon as congress passes the nec-

All this time the house committee on the District of Columbia proceeds with its usual provoking slowness and still has 116 bills under consideration. Many of these, of course, are more private bills, but those in which the board of trade takes an active interest are highly important. The bill to allow the Rock Creek Railway company to extend its lines through the city, which had been fought over so venomously, seems to be hung up at last. The commissioners of the District who oppose it have prevailed. It opened up the whole question of the trolley method of propulsion, but the managers of the Alexandria and Mount Vernon electric road claim that their system has all the advantages of the trolley with none of its evils. This is called the Love electric conduit system and is now in operation on the U street branch of the Rock Creek railway. It need not be described, except to say that it is a sort of underground trolley, and the great fight has been to get permission to extend it | Mexico. through the city. It is also known as the Buda-Pesth system. So far as anything can be stated with certainty of the action of congress, the measure is defeated for the present.

Distribution of Wealth.

Incidentally it is of some interest to note that the completed assessment shows Washington to be not only a wealthy city, but one where wealth is distributed with surprising approach to equality. The entire assessment of real estate in the District is a little over $191,000,000 and of personal property not quite $12,000,000, on which the taxation is almost exactly 134 per cent, so the District is not so badly oppressed by taxation without representation. It also appears that 25,000 persons pay taxes on less than $10,000 each and only 665 on $40,000 or more each.

Of all the social or semiofficial events of the season none has attracted such general interest or brought out so many curious facts as the dedication on the 10th inst. of the monument at Fredericksburg, Va., in memory of Mary, the mother of Washington. As was long announced in advance the president and many officials took part, and there were many attending festivities, including a Masonic banquet. It has only been four years or so since the ladies organized the Mary Washington Memorial association, of which Mrs. Amelia C. Waite is president—that is, president of the lady managers, though the nominal first place is held by the president of the United States. Mrs. Roger A. Pryor is vice president, and other ladies of Washington and Virginia hold various positions.

The singular facts are that Mary Washington, pursuant to her own request, was buried on a knoll on the plantation of her only daughter, though her husband was buried in another place, and none of her family has ever been laid by her, nor has any memorial ever been erected. There is not a line to show that Washington ever contemplated erecting even a tombstone, though he outlived her 20 years, nor does it seem that any of the family took any action in the matter. The only reasonable conclusion is that they thought her request to be buried there was a mistake and expected her remains to be removed to the family vault of the Washingtons on Bridge's creek, in Westmoreland county, where her husband, Augustine Washington, was laid.

Tardy Recognition.

About 60 years ago some New York gentlemen visited her grave, finding it unprotected even by a picket fence and trampled by the cattle and horses grazing in the old field. One of them was so affected by the sight that he immediately ordered a small monument and fence, but as he died before the stone was erected it lay by the grave for many years until it became worthless for the purpose. And yet this is the grave of the woman who gave us our political Moses, and according to one account prevented his entering the British navy, which would have assuredly made him a naval officer of George III instead of the Father of His Country. However, the American ladies of this day have done the honorable thing at last, and the occasion has been fittingly celebrated by officials and citizens. A round of the house committee rooms in these rather quiet times of that chamber shows that many persons with local interests are still hammering away despite the fact that little encouragement is offered. For instance, a resolution has been introduced and referred to the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries to inquire into the oil wells at Terre Haute, Ind., which are said to be dumping their waste oil into the Wabash and killing the fish. Before the committees on education, labor, land and so forth are even more than the usual number of bills and resolutions for investigating and reforming every evil of the day, and these are but specins of the work expected at the tall end of the session.

THE ANNUAL EXCURSION.

Of the Santa Fe Employes to Take Place Late in June.

The meeting of the Santa Fe shopmen at Trades Assembly hall Saturday afternoon to take steps toward the excursion they expect to have in June was well attended. P. E. Cook presided and Fred Lyman acted as secretary. Committees were appointed to confer with shopmen and officials, and find out just what can be done, and report at the next meeting, which will be held at the same place next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. It is quite probable that the excursion will take place on the last Saturday in June, as Treasurer E. Wilder has assured the men that they will be paid about the 20th. No point to visit has yet been de-

"Mr. Frey arrived here yesterday afternoon and preparations were promptly made after news of his presence here was rumored about town, to extend him pleasant greeting in the form of social courtesies and attention, for Mr. Frey is not only popular among railroad officials and business men, but a prime favorite in society. Invitations to a hop were hastily sent around among some of the leading gentlemen and ladies of the city. and when Mr. Frey reached the hall of the Conservatory of Music in the even-ing more than twenty couples were present. Ottawa Town and College Girls in Short Skirts,

Play an Interesting Game to a Delighted Crowd.

OTHER STATE NEWS.

"Facile Princeps" Still Says Mrs. Lease Must Die.

OTTAWA, May 14.-An exceedingly unique and interesting game of base ball took place here Saturday afternoon. Unique because the two nines were composed of the best young ladies in town and college, and interesting because girls are always so.

The game was played on the college campus and the only man in it was Prof. Potter who umpired.

The costumes were quite appropriate. Just short enough to permit perfect freedom of action; long enough to satisfy all scruples of rigid modesty. The college girls were distinguished by handsome yellow sashes gracefully worn over the right shoulder; the young ladies who opposed them were prettily decorated with red ribbons.

Throughout there was neither slide nor drive. There was some heavy bat-ting on the part of the college girls by Misses Fiester, Easter and King in which a number of two baggers were driven. Miss Bosworth also made a fine hit which sent the horse-hide in a terrific hurry to left field. The town girls also won distinction as heavy hitters, Miss Anita Anthony going on record with a two-bag-

Miss Belle Brockway edified the good judges of play by her long and accurate throwing, and decidedly interesting were the gymnastics of Miss Leone Brockway trom the pitcher's box.

There were no catastrophies of great account; Miss King was kissed in a rule way by a naughty ball in too great hurry to enjoy the feast, but was not injured. The crowd was sympathetic and enthusiastic, yelling till a rain was threatened, and some of the town lade became a little boisterous and had to be called down by President Colegrove, but the whole event was a very pleasant and happy one. The game closed at the end of the first half of the fifth inning, with a score of 26 to 24 in favor of the college club. Time, two hours.

INJUNCTION AGAINST MINERS.

Judge Williams at Fort Scott Overrules Motion to Dissolve Injunction.

FORT SCOTT, May 14,-A motion to dissolve the injunction granted last fall by Judge Foster against the striking miners at Weir City, was one of the last things heard in the United States court here before it adjourned. During the strike in the mines some two or three hundred of the strikers were restrained by an order of the court from making incendiary speeches and using threats or intimida-

AFTER THE CHINCH BUGS.

Stations With Directors Established in Lyon and Bourbon Counties.

EMPORIA, May 14.—Hereafter a chinch bug station will be maintained at the state normal during the summer for the purpose of supplying farmers with inoculated bugs, which will spread disease and death when turned loose among their brethren in the field.

Prof. Adams of the normal, a graduate of the university, will have charge of the station. He has had experience in the work under the direction of Chancellor Snow. The county will pay the expenses of the station, which are expected to be $200. The inoculated bugs and instructions from the university cost
